

Caleb Ogundele

Caleb Ogundele is an ICANN, AFRINIC, AFRISIG and ISOC Fellow. His involvement in Supporting Organisation with ICANN includes the NCSG, NCUC , and Error! Hyperlink reference not valid. . He currently volunteer his time in Error! Hyperlink reference not valid. where he currently serves as the communications chair.

A former team lead of the Information Technology Unit for the University of Ibadan, Distance Learning Centre and currently a Project Manager at the African Academic Network on Internet Policy hosted by the Ibadan School which is focused on Academic Research, Development and Public Policy Interventions. He is also a Principal Webmaster and an adjunct lecturer at the University of Ibadan.

He serves his local/regional internet community in different fora and capacity building which include but not limited to the ISOC Nigerian Chapter, Nigerian Network Operating Group (NgNOG) and African Network Operating Group (AFNOG) communities where he participate and volunteer as a Web Technologies Instructor in the AFNOG tutorial sessions.

Caleb is currently the Programme Secretary of the ISOC Nigerian Chapter and the coordinator of the Nigerian School on Internet Governance\(NSIG\). He possesses a number of industry/professional certifications as well as two Masters degree in Computer Systems and Information Science both from the Premier University of Ibadan. He is recently enrolled as a Ph.D candidate with focus on Internet measurements with an intersection on QoS.

Caleb's participation in different fora within the internet space has seen his researched contribution on internet governance policy issues ranging from data privacy, Geo Politics of Internet Governance, Community Networks and sustainable access, Cyber Security, digital rights, media literacy and Emerging Technologies.